

EFG at Stockholm Furniture Fair 2014

Regardless what plans or dreams you are sketching, it is our job to make them real. And we love challenges! Every single one of the interior solutions we develop is a result of individual circumstances, needs and visions in particular.

Got an idea? We make it happen.

Seating Solution

Task chairs for the active office. Chairs based on real, individual needs. A variety of activities and changes in the ways we work challenges the way we look at task chairs.

Work is becoming a function not a place. More and more office environments are designed to promote communication and to let people work in the environment that is best suited for any given activity. The traditional areas for task chairs are diversified. They are no longer just for our personal work place, but also for team areas or for multi usage. These changes give rise to new requirements. Here is the solution.

We make it happen.

We are no longer attached to a single desk. Instead, the office can be designed to promote communication, to put people in contact, and to let people work in the environment that is best suited for any given activity.

Let us hear your thoughts on how to create an active and productive office.

Got an idea? We make it happen.
